

Interim Pastor Search
Committee Update (October 2015)

The Interim Pastor Search Committee is busy meeting weekly with its search for WPC's interim pastor. The process began with identifying what attributes and key skills we as a congregation are looking for in leadership for our church during this season.

Some of the attributes we identified were:

- strong in the pulpit, which includes a clear commitment to Jesus Christ and understanding of the scriptures;
- an experienced interim who has demonstrated his/her ability to bring healing;
- one who has strong administrative skills in leading staff and session.

To date the IPSC has roughly spoken to over 14 potential candidates. Of these potential candidates, three candidates have moved forward in the selection process. Our hope is to have an interim in place by Christmas, but we feel it is much more important to have the right person than to be committed to a time line.

Please continue to pray for our church and the IPSC as we discern whom God is calling to the position of interim pastoring.
